Wednesday, September 22. 1703.

From the Leiden Slip, dated Sept. 24.

THE last Advices from Naples contradict what was lately written from Rome, that the Viceroy being inform'd the King of France had order'd him to be seiz'd, had shut himself up in the Castel Nuovo. Yet these Letters assure us, that his Excellency refuses absolutely to obey the Orders of that King, and has declar'd to the Duke de Popoli and Monsieur de la Trimouille, that he will never admit any French Soldiers into the 4 Castles of Naples, without expresse Order from the Council of Spain: and that the Misunderstanding between the Spanish and French Soldiers who are in that City, is grown to that heighth, that hardly a day passes without one Frenchman or other being kill'd.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 25.

Vienna, Sept. 8. On Advice that the Rebels in Hungary grow daily more formidable, more Regular and Militia Troops are order'd to march into that Kingdom, that a considerable Army may be form'd of them, to act vigorously against the Rebels, and endeavour to reduce them; they continue to commit great Disorders, and lately possess'd themselves of the little Town of Hust, in which they found 20 Pieces of Cannon and 2 Mortars: and the Garrison of that Place consisting of 60 Men, has joyn'd them. They have pillag'd and burnt the Town and Castle of Porac, formerly the place of residence of their chief Leader Prince Ragorzi; and put all the Inhabitants and particularly the Jesuites, who did not escape out of that Place at their approach, to the Sword. And have also taken Nagibania on the Borders of Transylvania. 'Tis fear'd they have form'd a Design to make an Irruption into that Principality, whereupon the Nobility are order'd to mount on Horseback to oppose them if there should be occasion.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 20.

Geneva, Sept. 5. The Protestants who came hither from Orange, in number 850, are gone from hence to Switzerland, where the Evangelick Cantons have given direction for their being entertain'd in certain Places, till they are sure of settling elsewhere: Two of their Ministers are gone to Berlin, to see what Encouragement his Prussian Majesty will give them to settle in his Dominions, whither he has been pleas'd to invite them. They write from Alets, that Parties of the Malecontents of the Sevens continue to appear frequently up and down that Country; that on the 25th of last Month they defeated a Party of 60 Men of the Regiment of Soissonnois; and that in another Action, the Dragoons of Firmancou were beaten.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Sept. 25.

Basil, Sept. 12. On the 8th the Garrison of Brisac, consisting of 3000 Men, march'd out through the Breach, with 4 Pieces of Cannon and 2 Mortars. The Governour demanded to be conducted to Friburgh, but it was refus'd him, and he was oblig'd to consent to go to Rhinfeld, which is 15 Leagues distant from Brisac. To day he and his Garrison will arrive near this City, and tomorrow they will get to Rhinfeld. They have at least 1500 Women with them. The French are repairing the Breach, and are hard at Work to put all the Fortifications into a better State of Defence. In the Place were found 40 Pieces of Brais Cannon, and about as many of Iron, 1080 Quintals of Powder, a considerable quantity of other Ammunition, and 4 or 5000 Sacks of Corn and Meal. The Sluyces made in the Bulwarks by the French when the Place was in their Hands, to lay the Land round it under Water, prov'd unserviceable when there was occasion to make use of them. The French fir'd with Powder only from their Artillery 24 hours together after the Place had capitulated, that the Imperialists might think it still held out, and be tempted to pass the Rhine into Alsace to make a Diversion, in expectation of which Marshal Tallard was sent over with a strong Detachment in order to fall upon them; but they happening not to send any Troops to that side, the Marshal is return'd to Brisac. What the Duke of Burgundy, whose Troops are in a pretty good Condition, will undertake next, we are yet to learn.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 24.

They write from Paris of the 7th, that the King of France has offer'd very advantageous Terms to the Duke of Savoy to engage him to renew the Alliance between him and the two Crowns: Which some say he has accepted. But others say, he is rather inclin'd to enter into the Grand Confederacy against France and Spain. And from Hanover of the 18th they write, that they had Letters from Italy which assur'd them that his Royal Highness is certainly already come into the latter. A little Time will no doubt set us right in this Matter.

From the Paris Gazette a la Main, dated Sept. 10.

Paris, Sept. 10. The King has rewarded Monsieur de Moriac, a Captain of Carabiniers, who brought the News of the Castle of Arco's being taken, with a Colonel's Commission and 2000 Crowns. The King of Spain has sent the Collar of the Order of the Golden Fleece to the Marshal de Boufflers, in acknowledgment of his good Conduct in the Battle of Eckeren; and 'tis believ'd the King will send that of the Order of the Holy Ghost to the Marquess de Bedmar, who was likewise in the same Action. Monsieur de Legal who commanded in the Action near Munderkingen against the Count de la Tour, is made a Lieutenant General. And 'tis not doubted But the Marquess du Heron will be made a Major General if he survive the Wounds he receiv'd in that Action, which is very much doubted. 'Tis given out that a new Treaty is made between the two Crowns and the Duke of Savoy, by virtue of which he is to have 10000 Crowns a Month more than formerly, in consideration whereof he is to add 1000 Dragoons to the Troops he furnishes already. Prince Tserclaes de Tilly, who is going to Spain to command the Forces of his Catholick Majesty, is pass'd through this City, he was at Court and had a private Audience of the King. Count Denonville, the Duke of Burgundy's Adjutant, came hither on the 8th with the News that the Garrison of Brisac consisting sitting of 2500 Men, had surrendred 11 days after the Trenches were open'd before that Place. Count Wallenstein the Imperial Ambassador, taken Prisoner some time since off Lisbon on board one of the five Dutch Men of War, is remov'd from the Chateau de Vincennes to Bourges.

Gottembourg in Sweden, August 26. A Fleet of English Merchant Ships bound home from these parts, is put into this Harbour with their Convoy, viz. the Portland Captain Jesson, the Romney Captain Strickland, the Triton Captain Trevor, and the Lynn Captain Watkins; who will continue here till they are reinford'd from England, by reason of the arrival of Monsieur St. Paul at Masterland alias Marstrand, (which lies within 3 Leagues of this Place) with a Squadron of French Men of War, consisting of the Salisbury, Ludlow, Milford, and 3 other Ships, 1 of 48 Guns and 400 Men, the other 2 of 40 Guns and 280 Men each. The French expect to be joyn'd by 3 more Men of War.
